

Overflow water from the swimming pool and water obtained from rainwater harvesting are transported to the water distribution point by utilizing the slope of the land

Pool Overflow Water

Excess water is used for irrigating the green areas

Rainwater Harvesting

The water collected at the water distribution point is used to feed the artificial pond

Water Distribution Point

Artificial Pond

Water overflowing from the pond is being diverted into the water channel